Crime including motoring offences

All areas of Criminal Law and Regulatory Law (Animal Welfare, Environmental, Health and Safety, Licensing, Local Authority, Motoring Offences & Regulatory).

Timescales

Timescales will vary depending on factors such as barrister's availability, the need for additional documents and court waiting times.

Fees

We operate two main pricing methods for privately funded work at Broadway House Chambers – fixed fee and hourly rates.

Sometimes there is a need to use a combination of the two, for instance a trial preparation fee based on the rate per hour and fixed daily attendance fees.

Full information will be given by our clerks when consulted and fees generated will be backed up with counsel's written log of work done.

Factors that will be taken into account when assessing and proposing counsels' fees include:

- The apparent complexity of the case;
- The seniority of counsel;
- The circumstances of the case, including whether it is of public importance or interest;
- The volume of documentation and likely preparation time;
- The potential length of engagement in the case overall and any trial proceedings.

We are often asked to agree varied fee structures such as:

- A 'whole case fee'
- Fixed brief fee (case preparation, conferences, and first day of trial) and fixed daily fees (refreshers)
- An hourly rate for preparation and fixed court attendance fees.

We are also amenable to considering differing payment terms, which can be discussed in detail with our clerking team at an early juncture.

Timescales for provision of our legal assistance can be affected by a number of different factors such as:

- The nature of the case;
- The availability of the barrister selected and any other professional or personal commitments;
- Timely case instructions and provision of all necessary material;
- Case complexity and volume of material to be read.

Value Added Tax will be added (where appropriate) to professional fees. Barristers are also all regulated by the Bar Standards Board, covered by Bar Mutual Professional Indemnity Insurance and are registered with the Information Commissioner's office.

Direct access clients will find more information on the services provided by chambers under this scheme in the dedicated section on our website [add hyperlink here]. The Bar Standards Board's 'Public Access Guidance for Lay Clients' can be found [add hyperlink here].

By way of general guidance counsel who receive instructions directly from a lay client in a summary only motoring offence, can provide advice and representation in the Magistrates' Court.

These cases are typically in relation such offences as careless driving, driving whilst disqualified or without appropriate insurance, speeding, failing to stop etc. They usually take varying forms:

- Single hearing – advice and/ or representation;
- Plea of guilty including special reasons and hardship mitigation and any sentencing;
- Not guilty trial and any sentence hearing;
- Legal arguments in respect of admissible evidence and staying proceedings for legal reasons.

Cases can be adjourned for additional information or for evidence to be adduced, for pre-sentence or psychiatric reports or by other orders of the court.

You can ordinarily expect to receive any requested written advice within 2-3 weeks, unless especially urgent. Our clerks will aim to ensure that the instructed barrister will be available to appear for you at court.

The fees you are likely to be charged are dictated by the particular needs of you the client, and your case. The case maybe straightforward requiring junior counsel, or it may be of particular complexity necessitating the instruction of senior counsel, even up to the level of Queen’s Counsel.

Fixed Fees

It is likely that we would be able to charge you a fixed fee for this type of case, either for the whole case, or on an item by item basis, so that you would have a level of costs certainty at the outset.

A typical range of fees, to which 20% VAT must be added, would be:

- Written advice – £75 to £1000
- Preparation, conferences, assistance with documents – £250 to £2,500
(up to a maximum of 3 hours, £80 – £1,000 per hour thereafter)

- A ‘Guilty’ plea – £150 to £5000
- First appearance – £100 to £1500
- First day of trial – £175 to £10,000
- Refreshers – £225 to £2,500
- Committal for sentence - £152 to £2,500

If your case is out of West Yorkshire, we will charge travel expenses at 45p per mile or standard train fare.

This is a wide range of fees anticipating cases at both ends of the scale, but a more definitive guide will be offered to you on first contact with our clerks. There is however, no set upper or lower limit, each case would be assessed on its own merits. A formal contract between counsel and the client will be drawn up setting out the services to be provided, the fees for these services and payment terms.

In certain circumstances that may arise there may be additional work demanded of counsel which may result in extra costs to the client which you will be advised of at the first opportunity. These may include, but are not limited to: service of further evidence, changes in the client’s case, unforeseen lengthening of court proceedings.

Hourly Rates

Sometimes we charge hourly rates, which means you will be charged a certain amount of money for the work that we provide. For some cases a conference may be necessary. Stated below are estimates only for barristers at Broadway House Chambers. Our hourly rates are £100-250 plus VAT (where applicable)

The fees vary depending on each case. Your fees will be higher if you need a more experienced barrister.

All information is correct as of 1st January 2022, but fees are estimates only and may change. For the most accurate fee estimate, please contact the clerks on 01274 722560 or on clerks@broadwayhouse.co.uk.
